MEMORIALS

- 30 a Before any memorial is erected in the cemeteries an application on a form provided must be completed and returned. The application must be accompanied by drawings or plans drawn to the scale of one inch to a foot, with dimensions figured thereon, a specification of the materials to be used for the work and a copy of every intended inscription thereon.
- b Memorials except those in the form of a cross on a single grave shall not exceed three feet six inches in height (including pedestal) by three feet in width and one foot three inches in depth from back to front and shall be placed at the head of the grave. Foundations for any such memorials shall not extend more than six inches beyond the above measurements at any point. Memorials in the form of a cross shall not exceed more than four feet six inches in height. Where two single memorials are erected on a double grave neither memorial shall exceed the above dimensions.
- c Single memorials on double grave spaces shall not exceed four feet six inches in width by one foot three inches in depth from back to front and shall be placed at the head of the grave. The foundations shall not extend more than six inches beyond the above measurements at any point. No part of any memorial shall exceed three feet six inches in height, except those in the form of a cross, which shall not exceed four feet six inches in height.
- d No memorial shall be erected on any grave (except on a properly constructed vault) until at least six months after interment.
- e No memorial in the form of a flatstone or a rockery or railings shall be allowed to be placed on any grave.
- f No kerb stone shall be allowed to be placed on or around any grave in any part of the cemeteries.
